Brian-

Hey bud! I'm totally glad we are still friends! You are the best! I love you so much! It's great to have someone to call and talk to whenever I need cheering up! We have to always stay this way NO matter what! If I ever lost you I don't know what I'd do! I'm so happy for you and Jen! I hope it lasts for a long time when I get my chance we are going out well BUT just remember I'll love you forever

OUR FIRST DECADE

A decade. What does a decade mean to you? You may not think 10 years is a long time, but ask yourself a couple of questions. Where were you 10 years ago? Can you even remember what the world was like 10 years ago? Who was your best friend? What were your goals? To be first on the block to get Baby Alive or G.I. Joe with the Kung Fu grip? Or, to convince Mom and Dad that you are old enough to stay up and watch Brady Bunch or Happy Days? Chances are you've changed a lot! (Let's hope so!) Now, what does a decade mean to you?

Hey Bri
How's it

5

◄ What can we say? We were the first to score against Mt. Diablo. Spirit and confidence were the name of the game. Then the Red Devils scored 20 points in the second half. Mazz's brother helped keep enthusiasm high by leading Reardon High School's band to pep the crowd. Even though we didn't leave with a victory, most everyone found a way to have fun while cheering for the Broncos.

Laura Hartle-Queen

Bright and energetic, Laura wishes to attend UCLA or Arizona State University and major in Communications.

Wendy Campana

This all around student wishes to attend either Boston College, Brown University or Berkeley and major in International Relations.

Barbara Chambers

Barbara, always smiling, hopes to attend UCLA and major in Nutrition.

Paula Hobson

This enthusiastic senior wishes to attend UCLA and in the future work with children.

Jill Jackson

This high spirited, optimistic senior hopes to attend a school back east; either Brown University, Cornell University, or the College of William and Mary. Jill hopes to major in Communications.

Dave Cademartori-King

A cheerful individual, Dave hopes to swim for Cal and earn his degree in Business.

Steve Leonard

This loveable senior wishes to attend college and study Wild/Life Conservation or Electronics. Someday he hopes to get married and have four children.

Dave Maselli

This talented senior hopes to attend San Diego State and major in Criminal Law. Dave likes to surf and ski and hopes to get a job with the FBI sometime in the future.

Tom Schulting

This very talented athlete hopes to attend San Diego State and major in Computers or Business. Tom says that the athletics here at Northgate "have been great!"

Tim Tomko

Outgoing and fun, Tim hopes to attend college and major in Dentistry. Tim feels that Northgate has been a very rewarding experience, especially in athletics.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

"Lean to the left, lean to the right, stand up, sit down, fight, fight, fight!" chant the Varsity Cheerleaders in front of a frantic crowd.

Cheering at football and basketball games take up much of the cheerleaders time, not counting the endless afterschool practices. These hours achieve unison and a spirit which promotes the team. This year, led by Anne Marie Scott, the cheerleaders won a Superior Trophy in a summer cheerleading camp.

In addition to cheering, the Varsity Cheerleaders also make signs for games and decorate varsity ball players' lockers to encourage them in the day's game. Some of the money involved in these jobs is earned through fundraisers such as selling Northgate pins and bumperstickers. The spirit the Varsity cheerleaders encourage add to the pride of Northgate.

JUNIOR VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

Before school even begins in September, the J.V. Cheerleaders are hard at work, practicing the routines they will perform during the year. Hours of afterschool rehearsing continue throughout the seasons.

The J.V. Cheerleaders have the task of leading spirit for the Junior Varsity Teams. This includes locker decorating and sign making, the same as the Varsity Cheerleaders. In the fall, it's football and in the winter it's basketball.

As spring finally rolls in, they put away their uniforms and wait for another year.

FRESHMAN CHEERLEADERS

Spirit starts early for the Freshmen Cheerleaders. They start practicing for the football season before they even take their first class at Northgate. Although Freshmen Football isn't very well attended, these dedicated girls cheer enthusiastically and happily. This year the Freshmen Cheerleaders received the spirit stick award and the superior trophy at U.S.A. camp.

The Freshmen Cheerleaders deserve a cheer themselves for all of their spirit and hard work.

SONG GIRLS

The crowd roars as the ball flies through the goal post. The band strikes up with the school song and all eyes turn toward the Song Girls and the Varsity Cheerleaders. The Song Girls do upbeat, enthusiastic routines as the band plays. With smiles on their faces, hands and feet in perfect time, they finish their routine.

Being a Song Girl is a great honor. Out of forty girls, only eight made the squad. This year the Song Girls won first place at camp and in competition. They received the spirit stick award and a superior trophy.

All these honors aside, the Song Girls' enthusiasm and spirit are enough to make the crowd go wild.

PIKETTES

Holding the tall flag high above her head, the Pikette swings and moves the pole to the beat of the up-tempo music. When she lowers the red, gold and white flag, it stands taller than she does. But the difficulty of manipulating the pole is not apparent due to hours of practice.

These hours of practice achieve the precision which earned them a third place and a superior trophy in a competition at the United Spirit Association Camp last summer. The competition was stiff, but the results proved the skill of the Pikettes.

In school they participated in numerous rallies and marched in parades and band reviews. Throughout the year, their spirit encouraged the teams and crowd. Routines performed for a lunch time crowd entertained hundreds of students and made them forget the pressure of the classroom.

LETTER CARRIERS

As the procession of the Band draws near, the line of Letter Carriers comes into vivid focus. Each letter poised in perfect alignment, each foot in unison. Being in step and manipulating the letters is not easy. It takes skill and effort, and sometimes while marching in the hot sun each routine seems interminable.

This year's Letter Carriers, however, perform to perfection. At U.S.A. camp they earned a first place trophy for their routine to "Roundabout." They also won the spirit stick award and a superior trophy.

The Letter Carriers have more than one responsibility. They must have the ability to perform with a letter and march with the band. They also do routines that are complex and often abstract.

Cheering until their voices grow hoarse, the mascots can be heard throughout the stadium. Whether it is leading the crowd in a cheer or urging the Broncos on to victory, Terryl Sharples and Corinne Robins give it their all. There is more to their job than meets the eye. They spend a lot of their free time making signs, decorating lockers, and participating in rallies. With their seemingly endless enthusiasm and energy, they are an invaluable resource to Northgate.

Friday Night

"You guys, what's a good end for the math story?" "Where did my ad go?" "Oh no! you can't put that picture in, that's me!" "Are we getting a pizza?" "How long are we gonna be here tonight?"

This is yearbook. It's the Friday before the entire book is due and the staff is in a frenzy trying to produce over a hundred pages for the decade yearbook. "Well if it's a hundred, now it's ninety-nine!" grins Jennifer Leiser; editor of the yearbook, as she slaps a page down on the table with a pile of finished pages.

On another table a tray full of candid pictures lies waiting for captions. How about "Your fly is unzipped, Jon Doe."

"No, too negative, the yearbook is supposed to be positive." More captions are written, another page is done, stories are typed, pictures are cropped, and it's only six-thirty? There are four and a half hours left before the punchout time. Two strawberry cupcakes are left on the plate while a twenty-four ounce jar of peanuts is emptied quickly. "It's dinner time, let's get a pizza!" "Not yet, we need a picture of Sally Ride." "What class is she in?" "She was the first American woman in space."

"Well, it's getting late, time to go home." "See you tomorrow." "But tomorrow's Saturday!" "Welcome to Yearbook class Isn't this fun?"

Friday morning, period two, young journalists are bent over a light table, frantically laying out pages of the Sentinel. In less than four hours, the entire newspaper is due to come out.

12:10. Classes are out and students pour into the hallways. At various stand points throughout the school, they mob staff members to get a paper. The work is done for this issue and everyone can sit back and read the results.

For the past three years, The Sentinel has been awarded the General Excellence at a district wide journalism competition at Los Medanos College. Every year the staff has walked away with many awards in news, feature, sport and investigative news writing.

This year, with a new advisor, Richard Friss, a junior Editor-in-Chief, Richard Pennisi, and dedicated staff members, The Sentinel is headed for its fourth General Excellence award. Their hard work has paid off.

(KORDOBA)

Brian,
I'm glad that we finally got to know each other. Keep up the crack-up you totally make me laugh a lot. I hope you have a wonderful summer and we get to see each other soon.
Love ya!
Cristie

Brian,
This year is finally over! I'm really glad that we have become such good friends! You're the greatest. Have a great summer!
Love ya!
Cristie

Brian,
The truth is the year sucked! But heh! That doesn't mean we can't have fun; so lets go cow tipping this summer. We will have to get together! Bob Agnew

Brian,
We made it through mr. Stones! Finally. Well you must be excited that you are going to be a junior next year. I thought that you were a junior this year. Guess not. It was nice meeting you this year. See you next year.
Have a great summer.
Amy

Brian,
You have a great sense of humor even though you are a little disrespectful little bastard. My sister enjoys your company and basically you're a real good time.
Take it easy,
Scott Lacerte

In Memory Of: Mike Price

For Michael

During special times
You were always there,
to hold my hand
And show that you cared.
You gave me your love
And I gave you mine growing and loving it all took its time
We shared it all the fun,
the laughs,
I loved you more than you could have asked.
Though inside,
I knew it would end,
for you were too special,
And good to your friends.
"HE" took you
to a place of happiness,
where love is eternal.
In peace may you rest.
And in return,
you left me,
in love with you and the memories.
We'll love you forever
And especially me
to hope for that special day
When "HE'LL" take me.

-Roxana Mercado

"A relaxed, friendly atmosphere." This is what the English Department Head, Diane Cookston, wishes to create in her classroom. She doesn't think that students should be forced to study in military obedience during class.

Mrs. Cookston genuinely enjoys students. "I like people, but especially teenagers. They are optimistic, open to new ideas, and willing to laugh." Like her students, Mrs. Cookston is also open and fun. She laughs as she describes the problems that she has with her glasses. "They always break, and I can't read a thing without them!"

Mrs. Cookston has always enjoyed English, and was given recognition in the subject when she was in college. She became a teacher in 1957, and has been teaching English ever since. She has been married and divorced twice and has three children.

What makes Mrs. Cookston mad? "When students put each other, or me, down!" And she can't stand it when students lean back in their chairs. "I get mad because it hurts! I've had my shins cut a couple of times!"

Mrs. Cookston's favorite author is Shakespeare. "He uses language beautifully. He thinks that human beings are terrific, and he's tolerant." These qualities also describe Mrs. Cookston.

arol Madigan

Carol Madigan is thoroughly dedicated to her job, and it shows in everything she does. Commitment, to her, is essential to teaching. "If the teacher doesn't have a real commitment, then it shows and everything's easier if you have a natural like for it."

Madigan has a natural like for her job, that's obvious. In fact, she feels that "coming to work is just an extension of what I like in my life learning, reading I try to pique the same interests in students, sharing the same literature that inspired me."

Madigan's favorite book to teach is one she continues sharing with her Junior classes — The Great Gatsby "Every time I teach it, she explains," I find new things either in the structure or paragraphs; the more times I read the book, the closer I feel to the narrator." New things are often discovered in the form of class discussions, which play a large part in her classroom. She and the students exchange ideas on characters, themes and symbolism in the various books.

F. Scott Fitzgerald's Great Gatsby is a book that she really loves, but Madigan's true passion is California authors. John Steinbeck ranks high in this subject. Three years ago, at Clayton Valley High, she actually taught a course in Californian literature. "With the passage of time, that's become my specialty and I guess my goal in life to teach a college level in California Literature.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Hablas tu espanol? Parlez-Vous francais? Sprechen sie deutsch? Si? Oui? Ja? Maybe not? None? Then you haven't taken a foreign language here. Beginning in the first level of a language, students learn basic vocabulary and grammar. In language II, its more vocabulary and grammar. After the second year, there is no English in the classroom — nunca. A foreign language is not required to graduate, but many teachers see it as a way to understand English better. Comprenez-vous?

SCIENCE

Dissecting pigs, drawing blood, figuring out chemical structures. All this and a lot more are daily occurences in the Science Department.

Actually, science isn't always this fun. Who can forget the hundreds of pages of Physiology notes, the explosions in the Chemistry labs and the Biology term paper?

Science may take a lot of effort and hard work, but in the end, it is worthwhile. Through science, we learn to understand how our world works. We learn why leaves are green, what materials form our body, and an infinite amount more.

SOCIAL STUDIES

"Those who cannot remember the past are condemned to repeat it" but in Social Studies, those who fail the past are condemned to repeat it!

And repeating a history course could be difficult since it's required all four years at Northgate. Since freshman year, we've learned the history and present conditions of China, Europe, Africa and the USSR. Juniors and seniors stick to America in U.S. History and Government.

Four years of history could become very boring if it weren't for the creative teachers, especially Tony Mazzaferro and Santo Alioto. Their antics and positive, excited attitudes make history fun.

In some classes, repeating the past is no chore.

MATH

Quadratic equations, the circumference of a sphere, dot product, x is greater than the absolute value of negative yk . . . sound familiar? Are you ready to pull out your hair? After recalling the delightful hours spent wrestling with the foreign shapes or symbols that taunt your mind you may recall the elation of FINALLY discovering how to do that problem you had stayed up until 12:13 trying to figure out. Or you may recall the feeling of relief when you passed your final and found out all that stuff you inhaled for fifty minutes each day throughout the year you really did remember. So, one answer to the infamous question, "Why do we have to take it if we're never gonna use it?!" is . . . when your kid comes running to ask you how to solve $139.61xy\ r37^2\ (-148b^3) \div -52\ z(2r^3)912\ b^4$ you'll know how to get the solution.

The Art Dept. at Northgate isn't what it used to be. "There once were three teachers, now there are three classes", says D.J. Snowden, art teacher. "There are exceptions of course, but many students, and the community as a whole, have little concern for culture other than as investment: they can buy taste. Most people say 'I don't know much about art but I know what I like' revealing that they. like what they know only.

This attitude, along with new University requirements and a feeling that art should be a kickback class involving little intellegence has made it difficult to say something "exciting and positive" says Mrs. Snowden. But she does love her advanced art class especially, "because they love what they're doing and really do it well."

DRIVER EDUCATION

Buckling himself into the seat belt of the Driver's Ed car, George Tong sighs, "So this is your first time driving? Your parents haven't taken you out at all?" The student shakes her head no.

"OK, that's no problem. Just put the key in the ignition, try over there. Great, you've got the key in, now turn it . . . more . . . Now, do you hear that? That's the motor, the engine, it runs the car.

"Easy, put it in first. That lever on top of the steering wheel, that's it. Now gently, step on the gas . . . easy . . ." CRASH! "Stop! Brake!" ' Tong screams, whirling around.

Shaking his head in dismay, he says softly, "All right, you've found reverse. Now turn around-do you see that car in back of you? Yes, it is a littleclose. Do you know why? Well, congratulations. You've just backed up into that Porsche . . ."

Push-ups, jogging around the court, bouncing balls flying into the net, questions, answers, yells and laughter — they're all part of Coach Ted Abbott's tennis class.

"How you doin' Cindy? You fired up?" he calls across the court.

"Great, Coach, just great."

Walking down to the lower courts, he pauses and booms, "Today, we're have the trials for the Heaven tournament. There are three divisions, Heaven, Hell, and Purgatory. Tomorrow starts the tournament."

In Hell, he sees a boy swing — and miss. "Kyle," he laughs, "you might be singles champion of Hell . . look at that sun! It's a beautiful day. Volker, it's a good day to win — you hear me?"

And some students do win, but that's not what's important to Abbott. He wants his students to look at P.E. as a positive experience. "My biggest goal is to see kids enjoy themselves in a sport . . for a lifetime." So whether it's badmitton, tennis, the football team or social dance, that's what he works for.

After eight years of working as Northgate's librarien, Bob Skapura is taking a leave of absence for six months.

During this time, he will be working for a computer company which designs computer programs for libraries. In fact, he will hopefully be installing the new library computer system here.

Although Skapura enjoys working here, he is looking forward to a change. "After 19 years of being a librarian, I need a change of scenery," he explains.

The end of his six month leave will be over some time in the early fall. Presently, he plans to come back where his job will be waiting — along with students and faculty.

Funded by SIP, the Study Center assists students at all levels of education through tutoring; parents and students volunteer to help in various areas. In addition, the Study Center sponsors a free spring SAT Workshop and a fall study skills seminar. Students who tutor 34 hours or more receive recognition on their transcripts. The most important part of this facility is tutoring and tutors help in areas "from computer to auto shop."

Brian,
I know were not juniors but we will be next year! Youre a great friend and I'm glad you transfered to N.G. too (were the smart ones) Youre girlfriend was smart to grab ya! Well Babe, Party over the summer, and get ready for next year.

Love always,
Kerry Breen

P.S. If you hear of a ripper call me up!
937-5538

See ya at the Priest concert!

you are one hell
of cool dude.
Im so glad we met each other. Hope I see ya over the summer and we can then get stoned.
next year you'll be an upperclassmen but that doesn't mean you're "bad." Just kidding. take care
and I'll see ya later.

You popular dude! I am so Privelegided to know
ya. I snt this pena trip. next time my parents go away
I Dont Thrash! I heard from sources that you didn't keep your promises! Bad Boy! I owe you so many phone calls. This summer
we have to party!!
There's so much more to say but I'll stop
Ill love ya 4 ever
Dannielle

Hey Brian, glad i got to know ya
better this year
Business math was a blast!
hope ya have a radical Summer. love

NORTHGATE: ONE STEP SHORT OF THE DREAM

"Above all the first decade of Northgate has been a period of change," says Mr. Hansen. There is always the bad that comes with the good, but the changes here have been necessary and unavoidable.

There has been a transition in the student's attitude toward school in the first decade. When we first opened, the students hated Northgate because they were forced to leave their old high school. But, after about six months they became fiesty, and liked to play tricks.

In the fourth year there was the "Raid On Entebbe." One day during brunch someone jammed the doors of the smoking section closed. As the smokers tried to open the doors, a van pulled up along the Drivers Ed. room.

The van door slammed open and a group of boys in ski masks jumped out. They were armed with fire extinguishers filled with water, and immediately sprayed the unsuspecting smokers with the water. Meanwhile, another group of boys appeared up on the roof. They had bags of flour which they dumped on the dripping smokers. These poor students stood there looking like shocked snowmen.

The chaos was filmed by another group of boys in ski masks. Rumor has it that the movie was hysterical - but of course noone (but the mysterious boys) has seen it. Incidentally, the pranksters were never caught.

And, of course, there's the classic carpet t joke. A group of boys would fold a section of carpet under the door leading into the main building from the Gym.

Upon entering the building, the unsuspecting student would trip on this section of the carpet. To make this embarrassing moment worse, the boy's would howl with laughter and judge the trip. "That one was definitely a ten!" "A three trip if I've ever seen one!" Mr. Hansen points out that the students now are much less playful. We are more serious about academics and extracurricular activities than ever before. Even the basic method of teaching has changed. In the first few years here there was a great deal of experimentation. There was teaching teams, large lecture classes, (Physiology is the only large lecture class still existing here) - and one year they had three classes a day. Under this system there were three two hour classes a day, and they switched classes every other day. All of these methods have been abandoned, and now we are back to traditional, educational techniques.

Many fads have swept through the ever changing Northgate. For a while the students were into the sixties look. Skateboarding and roller skating were the rage at one time. One fad that has endured is the custom of kidnapping. There have always been students traipsing through the halls of NG in their pajamas. Once, the cheerleaders actually kidnapped the entire Basketball Team! We are all aware of the fact that Northgate has a reputation. This is one fact that hasn't changed. According to Mr. Hansen, our reputation that we have now is a magnification of rivalry that we had with YV and CV when we first opened. An example of this is once when our winning basketball team arrived for a game at YV there was a sign, posted that declared, "How much money do you pay, NG, for each one of your players?" When YV came here for a game we reciprocated this question with the remark on our sign - "Welcome to the right side of the Tracks." It is easy to see how we acquired our "reputation".

What does Mr. Hansen predict will occur in the next decade at NG? He foresees a smaller student body, a younger staff, a more diverse range of classes, and hopefully a better place for education in our communities so that the future can be constructed carefully.

The first decade of Northgate has been a Time of change: But it is change that will not be forgotten. After all, Northgate is all but forgetable!!!

THE WAY THEY WERE

SANDY ANDERSON

History teacher and department head Sandy Anderson believes there's "something special about teaching here."

"There's a good atmosphere," she enthuses, "the morale is great here it's a good place to go to school and work."

The teachers and students have changed a lot during Anderson's tenure. There are "a number of really good teachers that we've lost. That's not saying that the teachers now aren't good, though."

In addition, "students are more conscious of grades but they're a little less willing to take risks, to risk an opinion in class " Along with a more point oriented attitude, the subject Anderson teaches has changed, "I'm teaching more rigorous curriculum now." Through it all, Anderson enjoys working at Northgate and exclaims that these have been "ten good years — I wouldn't go anywhere else."

ROGER LEONARD

Ten years of teaching at Northgate have meant a lot to Coach Roger Leonard. Observing students for a decade, he has noticed changes that have made Northgate what it is today. With the mix of students from Ygnacio Valley High and "beginning Northgate students we have a great team."

Part of these superior teams is the way students work with teachers and coaches. "They're very cooperative" says Leonard proudly.

In addition to the pride he takes in the positive, cooperative attitudes students show, Leonard is very happy with their appearance. "One of the compliments I get is on appearance," he stresses, "most kids have a lot of pride in the way they look; you don't really see a lot of dirty, ripped jeans and tee shirts "

Participation and cooperation have built Northgate in Leonard's eyes, and our reputation is the result.

RICHARD SCHWERIN

How long have you been teaching here Mr. Schwerin, ten years? "Has it been that long?" jokes Graphics teacher Richard Schwerin, "I've been here 20 years!"

He's joking, but still "it doesn't seem like ten years until you look at the yearbooks and then it seems like much longer."

Schwerin teaches photo, graphics, and typing so "I don't get a good crossection of the kids. I get kids who are either very interesting or bailed out of the college prep track." These students haven't changed much over the decade, he emphasizes. "They've gotten less interested, with exceptions."

What's the strangest thing that he has seen at Northgate? Not the fads, clothes, or cars which haven't really changed, it was what some students did last year. "It was the day two kids proceeded to take an electric razor and shaved a kid's head while others took pictures. He was willing to allow it but still "

THE PHANTOM PHOTOGRAPHER

Brian,

Hey fine guy! I'm so glad that we got to know eachother and develop a relationship! It all happened so quickly, yet it is working out so well! You have become so special to me and I hope things remain the same between us for a long time! I can't wait until my parents go away. We are going to have so much fuckin' fun when my & parents go away! I am up for it baby! Yeah! You best get your license soon so you can show me a good time! (ha!) Sorry I wasn't up this morning, but I sleep through a lot! We will sneak out soon and thrash! Remember Bri that I will always love you in my own special way!

THE CRÜE! VINCE EDDIE JEN ☺

Brian-
Spanish has been great! I'm glad you came to Northgate you cool guy, I hope to see you over the Summer! We should all go out including Rascher (only kidding). Take Care

Brian,
The craziest guy there is. We gotta crash this summer if not we'll get to drive us to parties this summer, it's crazy and get the Alps to the beach- stay off the wine coolers. Jammin' Jim

Crazy Riles,
How's it going dude. Have this summer. Bitch
With Jen this is God. Evil Enough

Brian
You rule more
I just don't know what to do without. Have a good Summer
Stay strait

Brian,
even though I hate your music.... don't worry I won't say it again. Im really glad we got to be good friends again. Maybe after you through with Jen (I bet your thinking that Im going to say let me have a turn) I wasn't! I was going to say when your through with Jen I WANT HER! This makes no sense but you already know that I am. You should feel privledged - you are one of the very few who have got a glimpse - (forget that high with the mindless okay!) That sounds kinda kinky doesn't it! I know I'll be seeing alot of you over the summer, so you should be happy
Love + Friendship Always,
Andrea

Cardo,

How the fuck do you spell his name. Scarecrows suck and your going to get caught, and when you do I'll laugh. Were going to have to go up to Diablo during the summer. Take it easy with Jennifer.

Later dude.

Brian
I'm really glad I met ya you are just to cool and to crazy. Well have to get some classes together next year. Have a great summer and I hope I see ya!

Love,
Andy Seidorff

Hi Brian
I love you
See you this Summer!
Xo,

Brian,

Hey dude! You really did me a big favor that by nipping up that report. So a progress of report. So a packet of coolers - huh. Okay problem. We'll all go out and party together soon. Maybe I can run from the cops with you this time.

Take it easy-
Len

Brian,

Hey good fuck! I hope to see your Oinder soon! We have to talk soon you horndog!

You are such a fuckin' special dude! Ow! Get excited! Get naked! Get alone!

Sex!

Jen-Ada

Brian,

¿Que Pasa?

Hey dude it's good to have ya back at N.G. Well have to party some time this summer. Maybe on the beach with some women. Give me a call some time & we can hit some power together.

Jon 945-7847

Brian.

Iam so happy you came back to N.G. I thought you ran away from the Cordobas. But we're reunited at last. Youre became a little nervous but I guess its a phase your going through. You better calm down or mama will write you out of her will. Your a great piena

See ya this summer.

Adios Love

Hey what's up Kiddo you know you crazy Bad ass Dont Hesit me so I'll see ya at the party/real Hard so we can call and it's a plan. Catchu later or Bean.

Brian,

Brian,
This page sucks to write on but I'm sorry that we had to wait till the end of the year to become friends. I guess I should say it was great having you in my english class even though I never got to talk to you because you sat all the way in the back. Have a great summer & I'll see ya around.
